Welcome to the 2018 London Book Fair at Olympia Exhibition Centre,

The London Book Fair and the New Title Showcase organized by the Combined Book Exhibit welcome you to the 12th edition of the Annual London Book Fair New Title Showcase with available rights on display. We are proud to present upwards of 650 print titles and ebook titles.

We are pleased that you have taken the time to visit this special exhibit and invite you to peruse the hundreds of titles and publishers on display. This catalogue provides you with their company, contact, and other relevant information so you can contact them after the show has ended.

In addition, all titles will be included on a New Title Showcase searchable database and can be found at <http://NewTitleShowcase.com>.

Please take this catalogue with our compliments and keep it along with your London Book Fair show directory as a record of what you saw, and whom you visited at the 2018 Fair.

At the end of the London Book Fair, this catalogue will be available on the London Book Fair web site (www.londonbookfair.co.uk), and the Combined Book Exhibit web site (www.combinedbook.com) in pdf format.

Once again, thank you for visiting this Pubmatch Bookshelf, and we hope you have a successful and rewarding experience at this years show.

About the Book:

Love springs eternal! Its' depth is most poignant when heard in the voice, when hand written on a found sheet of paper. Upon their deaths, the love of Phil and Jack is revealed in some 200 transcribed v-mail and a dozen paper letters found while going through family papers. Largely from Phil to Jack while he was serving in the Army during WWII, these letters provide a mere glimpse of the author's parent's intense love for each other during the early years of their marriage. As young adults they were separated during most of their first 4 plus years of marriage. On the pages of this book -- in a manner seemingly long past -- is an opportunity to share the feelings that this couple strove to communicate to each other during their separation in this unforgettable historical moment in time. Here on these pages -- for those who treasure memories, and cherish that almost antiquated practice of handwritten letters -- find love.

Cliven Bundy caught the world's headlines
by making a historic stand in the Nevada Desert.

NOW HE TELLS THE REAL STORY...

In the shocking—yet true—story, as told to the author, with all its twists and turns, highs and lows of intrigue and the common sense of one man, his devoted family, and fellow patriots that are only matched by our Founding Fathers. It's a story not yet finished in its telling. It's a story every person, every family should read and declare in their own voice.

It's a story in which you must decide for yourself...

Is Cliven Bundy an American Terrorist or an American Patriot?

Descent

Donald R. Avoy

In a gripping story of a couple whose love is tested by heroin addiction, readers will witness how their love will overcome the addiction – or how addiction will overpower their love. Descent is author Donald Avoy's modern retelling of the Greek myth of the great love story between Orpheus and Eurydice in the context of a very current, complex, social and medical problem.

Chris Childs, a gifted scientist and an unusually talented musician, is a post-doctoral fellow at a prestigious medical center near San Francisco. At a performance one night, he meets the love of his life, Erin Leahy, who is unfortunately dating a guy who hates him, Cal Martin. The attraction is mutual and powerful. It doesn't take long for Chris and Erin to act on their attraction and they both break up with their respective significant others.

Cal is furious and does not take the break up well. In an act of revenge, he tricks Erin into using heroin. Horrified at first, she succumbs and becomes addicted, unaware of the reason for her unusual susceptibility. Soon Erin is hooked and begins lying to everyone she knows. She is able to hide her addiction from Chris until she accidentally overdoses and has to be hospitalized.

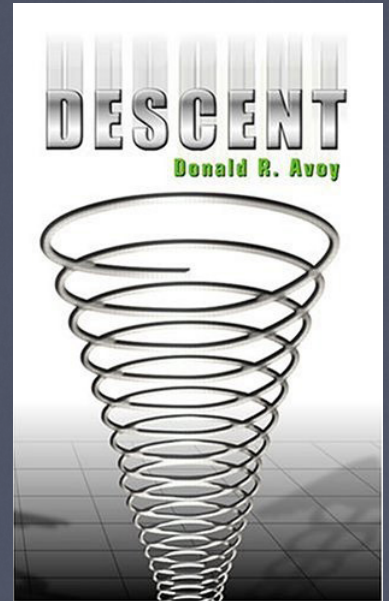

After her release, a struggle is waged between the power of opiate addiction and the medical knowledge that guides its treatment. Her life falls apart and she leaves town only to fall deeper into addiction and self-hatred.

Chris eventually finds her and together they set about getting her healthy. When Erin relapses and flees, Chris must seek the guidance of a wise man, a pioneer in the use of methadone in the treatment of heroin addiction. The stakes in this struggle could not be higher. Even a momentary lapse may be fatal.

When all seems to be finally going their way, a nasty series of events sends Erin over the edge and Chris is devastated.

About the Author

Donald Avoy was born in Denver, Colorado where he lived through high school. After three years in the Navy, he returned to attend the University of Colorado. He then attended Stanford University for Medical School and post-doctoral training in Internal Medicine and Hematology. He was in private practice and also served as the director of the local Red Cross blood program. He is currently involved in methadone treatment of heroin addiction in San Jose, California where he lives with his wife Nancy, a high school English teacher. Their six children and seven grandchildren are scattered from coast to coast and into Canada.

Things Fall Apart: A Novel of Survival and Honor

Fred Heiser

$18.95 • 358 pages • 9780595232796

When the unthinkable happens as the nuclear brinksmanship spirals off into Armageddon, billions die, governments disintegrate, great cities are annihilated and deeply laid plans to seize unlimited power swing into action. It seems that this catastrophe will not only change the world, but moreso changing the people and their inner strength and willpower. Readers will witness how interesting characters will cope to survive when Things Fall Apart in author Fred Heiser's deeply absorbing novel.

Tom McArthur: Once a carefree individualist, he was coaxed into a position of influence and leadership by unexpected opportunity and kept there by his sense of honor. He finds himself far from home and family, separated by hundreds of miles of impossible terrain, gangs of armed bandits and a hostile government.

Lynn, his wife: Beautiful and intelligent, strong willed and voluptuous, she resents Tom's abandonment of her and their children for a distant political career. Now, with nothing but her courage, wits and willpower to work with, she must fight to keep herself and her children alive.

Lance: Young, handsome and lonely, trained as the ultimate warrior, he drove himself into poverty and alcohol with the memory of an unspeakable evil he was party to. Will he find love and redemption or destroy those around him?

Who will live? Who will die? What will emerge when things fall apart? Readers are about to find out in Things Fall Apart.

About the Author

Fred Heiser lives with his wife, two children, two dogs and a desert tortoise in southern California. He draws on his childhood in the rural mid-west as well as extensive experience in electoral politics, military affairs, advanced technology, firearms and numerous outdoor adventures to create exciting novels and short stories.

Just in Case the Raindrops Fall

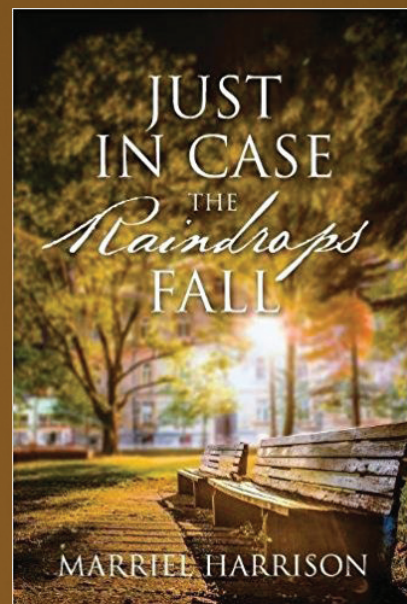

Marriel Harrison

$17.95 • 210 pages • 978-1478785613

Dark secrets threaten lifetime friendships.

Author releases another engaging novel that digs in deep into the dangers of keeping secrets amongst friends.

A dangerous secret is about to rock the foundation of a group of lifelong friends. From the author that brought readers the novel, The Hidden Side of Me, comes another absorbing read that's hard to put down until the last page. Author Marriel Harrison gives readers an intriguing look at how good friendships can easily turn upside down with deeply hidden secrets that are about to surface in his new novel, "Just in Case the Raindrops Fall". Readers are invited to witness how five friends find themselves entangled in a web of deceit when a longtime infatuation grows into a forbidden mid-season romance.

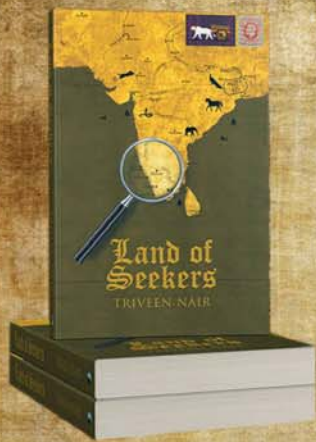

Cedric Johnson, the outspoken, sometimes arrogant member of a group of friends, oversteps the boundaries of friendship when he finally lives out his long-held obsession for Milana Carmichael, the wife of his college buddy David. Cedric and Milana agree to adopt the roles of good friend and wife while playing the game of secrecy and romance—until Milana's feelings change after an unexpected night of lovemaking with David, rekindling the extinguished fire in their marriage.

Stricken with guilt, she tries to end the illicit romance—a simple fix, she thinks—but Cedric becomes angry and threatens to expose their secret. Their friend Marshall discovers the affair and warns Cedric of the dangers, but dares not go any further because of his own little secret. Cedric ignores the warning, posing a threat to Marshall and anyone who stands between him and Milana. The race to keep secrets hidden intensifies when the unexpected occurs, testing the fiber of friendship and exposing shocking truths.

About the Author

Marriel Harrison is a retired U.S. Army soldier and author of the novel, "The Hidden Side of Me". He has a PhD in Business Management and an MBA in Project Management. A university professor and occasional adventurer, he loves long drives, wine tasting, and bookstores.
